TYPES OF DATA PROCESSED AND PURPOSE OF THE PROCESSING

The computer systems and software procedures used to operate this site may acquire, during normal operation, some personal data whose transmission is implicit in the use of internet communication protocols. For example, the IP address or domain names of computers and terminals used by users, the URI/URL (Uniform Resource Identifier/Locator) addresses of the requested resources, the time of access to the site or in general other parameters relating to the operating system and the user's IT environment.

The data sent optionally, explicitly and voluntarily by the user by filling in and sending contact forms, subscribing to the newsletter or forms used for purchases or by e-mail for information requests may be: name, surname, address of residence/domicile, e-mail address, date of birth, credit card number, etc. In no case will data of a particular nature (e.g. Sensitive data) be requested, such as ethnic origin, religious, political or philosophical beliefs, health status, sexual life or data of a judicial nature.

The personal data subject to processing will be processed lawfully and fairly, collected and recorded for specific, explicit and legitimate purposes and used in other processing operations in terms compatible with such purposes; accurate and, if necessary, updated, relevant, complete and not excessive with respect to the purposes for which they were collected or subsequently processed. The processing of your personal data will take place through the use of IT and telematic tools and with logic strictly related to the purposes themselves and, in any case, in a way that guarantees their security, always in compliance with the provisions of art. 5 EU Regulation 2016/679.

COOKIES

Cookies are small text strings that the sites visited by the user send to his terminal (usually to the browser), where they are stored before being re-transmitted to the same sites at the next visit by the same user. While browsing a site, the user may also receive cookies on his terminal that are sent from different sites or web servers (so-called "third parties"), on which some elements may reside (such as, for example, images, maps, sounds, specific links to pages of other domains) present on the site that the user is visiting. Cookies, usually present in users' browsers in very large numbers and sometimes with characteristics of long temporal persistence, are used for different purposes: execution of computer authentication, monitoring of sessions, storage of information on specific configurations regarding users who access the server, etc.

Two categories of cookies: "technical" and "profiling".

a. Technical cookies.

Technical cookies are those used for the sole purpose of "carrying out the transmission of a communication over an electronic communications network, or to the extent strictly necessary for the provider of an information society service explicitly requested by the subscriber or user to provide such service". They are not used for other purposes and are normally installed directly by the owner or manager of the website. They can be divided into navigation or session cookies, which guarantee normal navigation and use of the website (allowing, for example, to make a purchase or authenticate to access reserved areas); analytics cookies, assimilated to technical cookies when used directly by the site manager to collect information, in aggregate form, on the number of users and how they visit the site; functionality cookies, which allow the user to navigate according to a series of selected criteria (for example, the language, the products selected for purchase) in order to improve the service provided to the same. The installation of these cookies does not require the prior consent of users, while the obligation to provide information pursuant to art. 13 of GDPR 2016/679 remains in place.

b. Profiling cookies.

Profiling cookies are designed to create profiles relating to the user and are used to send advertising messages in line with the preferences expressed by the user while browsing the internet. Due to the particular invasiveness that these devices may have in the private sphere of users, European and Italian legislation requires that the user must be adequately informed about their use and thus express their valid consent. (add if there are further specifications on your cookies used)

METHODS OF TREATMENT

The data is processed with the aid of electronic, or in any case automated, computerized or telematic tools, in compliance with the methods set out in articles. 6 and 32 of GDPR 2016/679 and by adopting adequate security measures to prevent data loss, illicit or incorrect use and unauthorized access. Personal data will be processed only for the purposes specifically and strictly pertinent to each individual service requested and used. In all cases in which it is intended to use the personal data provided for purposes other than or different from the provision of the requested service, consent will be requested before proceeding with the processing.

RIGHTS OF THE INTERESTED PARTY

The interested party may at any time exercise the rights from art. 15 to art. 22 of EU Regulation 2016/679. In particular, the right to obtain confirmation of the existence or otherwise of the data provided (content and origin), verify its accuracy or request its integration, limitation of processing, updating, rectification, cancellation or portability of the same in order to be able to appeal to the National Authority for the Protection of Personal Data, located in Piazza Venezia n. 11, 00187 Rome (art. 51 of EU Regulation 2016/679) in the event of violation of their rights.
