

Castello di Solfagnano, a story of energy and beauty

Castello di Solfagnano is a noble castle nestled in the green heart of Italy: Umbria. Located between Florence and Rome, a few kilometers from Assisi, the Castle boasts a centuries-old past that has its roots in the Middle Ages.

Fortified structure and Abbey as early as 1100, but also a villa and fascinating historic residence, the complex was acquired at the beginning of the sixteenth century by the Antinori, who rethought the rooms, inaugurating a new way of understanding the landscape, as a grandiose space projected towards the outside, to enjoy the beauty of nature.

A centuries-old history that has been intertwined with the destinies of the most illustrious aristocratic families of central Italy in which, between cultural sedimentations and geopolitical events, the cult of antiquity and modernity coexist. A story crossed by some imperishable axes: Harmony and Nature, Beauty and Energy.

Since 2007, the Castle has been acquired by the family of Pasquale, Chiara, Francesca and Paola Colaiacovo who have launched an ambitious architectural redevelopment project and promoted a skilful restoration that has been able to enhance the multifaceted identity of this place.

The villa and the castle have now become a center of excellence within the tourism system of the Umbria region, a prestigious and functional structure that opens its doors to exclusive events, fairytale weddings, international conventions. A project, that of the Colaiacovo family, which aims to consolidate the role of prestige attractor towards an international target: hospitality and major events, within the increasingly strategic segment of wedding tourism for the country system. And also oenological productions, thanks to the cultivation of the estate's vines that have given life to a fine range of wines; and the well-being of the person, thanks to the partnership with the Monacelli Academy which guides the guests of the Castle on a path of authentic regeneration of the person

The Castle of Solfagnano is a place with multiple souls, which does not forget its history but which knows how to offer it updated, renewed, to the whole world. A story of energy and beauty.
