DAY TRIPS

LIXUS - Known as 'The Sleeping Beauty', the ancient city of Lixus is barely 20 minutes away by car. Founded by the Phoenicians in the 12th century BC, this historic site is the oldest city in Morocco. Unique for its Roman amphitheatre, the view from the city extends over the Loukos estuary and salt marshes. The city flourished thanks to its fish-salting industry, its exports of cedar wood, wheat, grapes, and maritime products such as tuna and garum. These exports made Lixus one of the busiest and wealthiest cities in the Empire.

LARACHE - The port of Larache is a humble seaside village that lives off its fishing industry. In the small restaurant to the left of the Arab-Andalusian market, you can enjoy local delicacies such as grilled sardines in salt.

Assilah

Named 'The Pearl of Morocco' by its inhabitants, Assilah attracts tourists because of its Moussem, which is one of the most popular cultural gatherings in North Africa. Each year, the streets of the medina are embellished by works of street art as part of this celebration, a tradition that augments the town's magnificent historic centre. With its white and blue buildings and suspended moucharabieh, the alleys of the old town are a beautiful place to shop - a day perfectly ended by a fish lunch at the Garcia.

Despite being situated at the northern tip of Africa, Tangier is only 15 km from Europe, a location that has endowed this city with a fascinating history. Known for its cosmopolitan feel, it is famous thanks to writers and artists such as Matisse, Paul Bowles and Mohamed Choukri. Attractions in the city consist of the Kasbah, Medina, the Socco, Sultan's Palace, Mendoubia Garden, Les Insolites bookstore and Harris Villa, as well as its museums and ocean-facing riads. Visits to the Cave of Hercules, Cape Spartel and the Hill of the English are just a few ways to experience some of the city's best-kept secrets.

Rabat, the capital of Morocco, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. It is also home to the Hassan Tower and the Chellah, a former Phoenician trading post and Merenid necropolis that dates back to the 13th century.

If you choose to visit Rabat during your stay, you can also participate in solidarity tourism through La Fiermontina Océan and its partner, the Fondation Orient-Occident, who offer an immersive day trip on the theme of migration, culture, professional training and cuisines of the world.

Known as the 'Blue City', Chefchaouen is one of the most picturesque in Morocco, with its steep, indigo-blue alleys that meander below the slopes of the Rif mountain range. The medina, Place Outa and the Alcazaba are notable sites we recommend visiting, as is the waterfall located near the city centre. Chaouen is listed by UNESCO as a place of 'Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity' due to its emblematic Mediterranean dietary practices.
